OGLE SHERIFF MUST ANSWER GOVT. CHARGES

Accused of Allowing Federal Prisoner Many Liberties

Sheriff Sam Good, of Ogle County, his chief deputy, Clint Myers, and Bertha Kendall, matron of the Ogle county jail, will appear before Judge Fred L. Wham in federal court, Chicago, this afternoon to show cause why they should not be charged with contempt of court because of alleged "special privileges" said to have been allowed Barney Kessel, Chicago saloon keeper, while he was serving a 60 day federal sentence in the Oregon jail.

The trio of local officers will be accompanied by partners of the law firm of Crowell and Crowell of Oregon. The hearing is to be held in federal court at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

"Nothing To Fear"

"I have nothing to fear," Sheriff Good said. "Kessel was a model prisoner and was made a 'trustie' shortly after he started serving sentence here. He was not allowed any more privileges than a federal prisoner confined in any county jail throughout the state. The charges made by Judge Wham are incorrect and I believe we will straighten out the difficulties when we meet in Chicago."

The case against Ogle county officers follows closely on the heels of the Cook county scandal over jail privileges accorded Terry Druggan and Frankie Lake, beer peddlers.

According to word received from Chicago, Kessel was a prisoner in only the nominal sense of the word, due to Sheriff Good's treatment of him, the government alleges. He was supposed to be in jail 60 days, but, during that time, he was "out" 40 times, according to the charges Judge Wham claims that Kessel visited Chicago three times, rode in the sheriff's automobile and was allowed to visit a barber shop and restaurants.

Worked About Yard

Kessel, according to Sheriff Good, was allowed to work about the yard of the courthouse. He may have visited a restaurant or store one or two times, but he was always under surveillance, according to Sheriff Good. Kessel was released from custody Jan. 13 when his 60 day term expired, but he has been rearrested on charges of contempt, according to word received here.

Two federal investigators were in Oregon several weeks ago, probing rumors of alleged privileges allowed federal prisoners. Friends of Sheriff Good believe that the contempt of court charges are an outgrowth of complaints made by other federal prisoners serving sentences here at the time Kessel was confined.

One Witness in Trial of Boswell is Ordered Held by Judge

East St. Louis Jan. 25.—(AP)—Fierce blasts from Arctic wastes lashed Rocky Mountain, midwestern and southwestern states alike today with the sub-zero readings of the mountains and upper plains being reflected in freezing temperature along the Gulf of Mexico.

The severe weather, the coldest of the winter in several sections, was compared by snow, sleet and heavy rains which doubly handicapped transportation and communications. Partial relief was in prospect by Saturday.

The upper Rock Mountain region experienced the lowest temperatures, but even New Mexico, Oklahoma and western Texas shivered in near-zero weather.

The mercury was expected to reach

30 degrees below zero in the San Luis valley of Colorado today, which was one of the coldest spots in the mountain region. Miles City, Mont., reported 32 degrees below last night.

More snow and sleet was expected in Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Snow fell in northern Texas today

while heavy rains in the region below

the Panhandle continued.

It was so cold in Samuels, Ida., yesterday that water flowing through a fire hose froze and the $50,000 mansion of H. P. Samuels, coal mine operator, was destroyed by fire.

Anaconda, Mont., experienced a $200,000 fire in the loss of a garage and theater. Firemen battled the flames with the mercury registering

12 degrees below zero.

PEORIA ICE-BOUND

Peoria, Ill. Jan. 25.—(AP)—An ice coat from one to three inches thick covered most of this section of the state today and played havoc with rural transportation. State highway authorities advised egress using country roads, unless it was urgent.

Cinders were being scattered on hills and curves. Buses attempted to maintain schedules but encountered great difficulty.

Many Peoria streets have ice coats from one to even six inches in thickness due to heavy rains and snow of the past week, followed by the new cold wave. Temperatures here today were near zero accompanied by a strong wind.

The Illinois river is adding to new ice fields as rising waters move into the low lands. The flood stage of 16.2

feet was reached today.

WESTERN RADIO OPERATOR TALKS WITH BYRD SHIP

He Talked With Plane 9,000 Miles Away in Antarctic

San Francisco, Jan. 25.—(AP)—

The Examiner announced today that Fred Roeckebuck, announced at its station KUD, had talked directly with Malcolm P. Hansen, radio expert of the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, while the latter was flying in the expedition's plane Stars and Stripes, over the Bay of Whales, Antarctica.

Roeckebuck and Hansen were in two ways communication for 22 minutes early this morning. The distance was approximately 9,000 miles. The Stars and Stripes was 3,000 feet over the Bay of Whales, Antarctica.

The defense rested shortly before noon, twenty-four hours after its first witness was presented. Arguments of opposing counsel then began.

United States Attorney Harold Baker opening with an emotional appeal to the jury. The case was expected to go to the jury late to day.

Baker centered his attack on Boswell, reviewing the history of gang warfare in Williamson county over a period of years and pointing out that five times during Boswell's four years in office the National Guard had been sent into the district to maintain order.

"One man with guts could have stopped this whole bloody business in Williamson county, and Boswell could have been that man," the District Attorney declared. He reviewed the evidence and declared that the testimony established that Boswell had been actively associated with the Birger gangsters.

Slayer of Shepler Convicted This A. M.

Burlington, Iowa, Jan. 25.—(AP)—

John Vaughn, charged with slaying

Max Shepler on Huron Island, near here in 1927, was convicted of second degree murder today and will be sentenced Feb. 5. The case was given to the jury at 10:40 Thursday morning. The jurors reported at 10 a.m.

Harl Zippe, who was jointly indicted with Vaughn for Shepler's death, is now on trial. The state started its testimony in that case today.

WEATHER

YOU CAN NEVER FIND LOST TIME, EVEN THOUGH YOU FIND TIME TO LOOK FOR IT.

FRIDAY, JAN. 25, 1929.

Chicago and Vicinity—Fair with cold wave tonight, temperature zero to 5 degrees below; Saturday cloudy, snow; not so cold Saturday afternoon; Sunday cloudy and cold.

Illinois—Generally fair tonight, colder in east and north portions;

cold wave in extreme east portion;

Saturday unsettled with snow, not so cold in south portion.

Wisconsin—Generally fair and colder tonight, severe cold wave in Michigan—Jan. 25—(AP)—Mrs. Jessie

McGraw, of Superior Court today.

The bill charging cruelty was filed yesterday and Magnus did not appear in court today. The decree was granted in default. Under an agreed settlement made beforehand, Mrs.

Magnus is to receive $100,000 cash and household goods valued at $200,000, plus $250 a month for support of their child, Barbara Jane, 7.

Wall Street

New York, Jan. 25—(AP)—The New York stock exchange today had its wildest bull market so far this year, as operators for the advance bid up dozens of issues from 5 to 17 points to record high prices. The bullish enthusiasm was in response to the moderate increase in brokerage loans and the sharp improvement in the reserve ratio of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, announced last night.

The movement centered on the steels, chemicals and industrial specialties. Oil and rails were practically neglected. John Manville shot up $17 to $238, a new record high, having sold as low at $96.25 last year. Underwood Elliott Pineda pumped $16 to $111.50. General Electric and Union Carbide mounted $11, and Radio $10.75. U. S. Steel was again a market leader, mounting $7.75 to another new record price at $191.50.

Montgomery Ward lost $2 at the opening, but quickly recovered its loss. Columbia Graphophone was a soft spot, losing $3.

Dope Upset When Loveland and St. Mary's Teams Met

The Grade School teams upset all the grade yesterday at the Y. M. C. A., when the Loveland and St. Mary's teams tied 7 to 7 and the North Central defeated E. C. Smith 11 to 10. These games set the large crowd of juvenile spectators to cheering wildly. Never in the history of the Grade School League, have the teams been as evenly matched as they are now.

The St. Mary's team, surprised by the speed of the Loveland five, were unable to break the tie score even though three overtime periods were played. The Loveland boys proved their stuff early in the game though St. Mary's team handled the ball with more skill when they had it. The game for the St. Mary's team was done by Stewart, Henry and Hanchester, while Loveland's score was made by Grove, Williams, Bellows and Tappaner. The tie will be played off at a later date.

TRAIN AT NIGHT—

SWEEPING on, sweeping on, with a rhythm of might;

With a thunder of song and a glory of light;

With its glimmering windows in star-golden chain;

Through the night speeds the train in the heart of the plain.

How the swift shadows flee in retreat down the rails.

As the long shooting headlight the darkness unveils;

How the roar of the wheels, and the whistle's keen cry

Fill with music the world from the sky.

Sweping on, sweeping on, through the long hours it goes.

Till the eastern sky blossoms a wild prairie rose;

Till the mountain tops flash in the sun's stinging ray;

And the meadow lark carols his joy to the day.

Like a train speeds my thought through the prairies of sleep;

While its headlight discovers the way that I keep;

All its coaches are visions with windows of gold,

And its cargo is beauty and beauty untold.

Swinging on, swinging on, till the dark it outflies

And ascends from the earth to the star-covered skies;

Down the galaxy races, then circles the sun.

Till the uttermost summits of heaven are won.

Delightful Entertainment at Elks Club Next Tuesday Eve

Members of Dixon Lodge of Elks and their ladies are to receive a real treat next Tuesday evening, January 29, when "A Light Opera Mirror" will be given at the club house. Ralph Henry Steffen, notable basso, heads the company. Mr. Steffen was formerly soloist in one of the most interesting churches in America—the famous Little Church Around the Corner in New York City. Leaving this church, Mr. Steffen scored a great success in Schubert's beautiful production of "Blossom Time."

In addition to this famous soloist, the personnel of the company includes a number of other distinguished singers, Lucile Wachtel, soprano; Paul Harmen, tenor; Alma King, contralto, and Magdalen Massmann, well known concert pianist.

Marriage of Popular Dixon Teacher Was Announced Last Night

The marriage of a popular and charming young Dixon school teacher was made known last evening at a most delightful 5 o'clock bridge dinner given by Miss Loreata Bolt at her home. Miss Bolt entertained guests for three tables. The appropriate decorations were in white, with white tapers illuminating the gay scene. Beautiful white monogrammed place cards and tallies all in one, bore the announcement of the wedding, the announcement being made on the tallies opposite the place cards. It was in the form of a snap shot, taken immediately after the wedding ceremony and below were the names of the bride, who was Miss Mildred Larson, in lovely bridal attire, and that of the bridegroom, a stranger to Dixon friends, Wilbur Shepherd of Morris, Ill., the wedding taking place at Newark, Ill., on Dec. 31, during the holiday vacation period. During the serving of the delicious dinner, at the prettily appointed tables, a tempting white bridal cake was brought in, the cake being decorated with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

These treatments, in turn, depend upon the purpose and location of the door itself and the draping scheme followed in the rooms upon which the door is.

French doors, generally speaking, are of two distinct types—doors leading to an enclosed porch or an open terrace outdoors, or doors between rooms inside the house. In either type the beauty and effectiveness of the door depends very largely upon the judgment exercised in choosing drapery treatments.

These treatments, in turn, depend upon the purpose and location of the door itself and the draping scheme followed in the rooms upon which the door is.

French doors leading to the outside of the house are susceptible to many different draping schemes. The first rule is that the door treatment must correspond with the scheme followed at the other windows and doors in the same room. Ornamental drapery hardware makes this a very simple task, and the use of wrought iron, wood poles, or other rods is recommended.

If you are draping the entire room it is well to bear in mind that the use of

AMANULLAH'S LESSON.

In all this semi-ludicrous business of King Amanullah of Afghanistan, who lost his throne because he tried to modernize his somewhat stiff-necked subjects, there is more or less food for thought for us Americans, distant as Afghanistan may be.

Amanullah, petty and pompous as he may have been, was a man with rather advanced ideas. Afghanistan was hardly the place for such things. It had existed in semi-barbaric seclusion for centuries, and its wild, untamed hill folk didn't like the idea of change.

So the airplanes, European clothes, electric lights, barber shops and automobiles that the worthy Amanullah tried to compel his subjects to take to their bosoms became a source of friction. The Afghanistans, as one man, rose and chased Amanullah over the borders. They will continue in the "good old ways" of their grandfathers.

Our sympathies, naturally, are all with Amanullah. The world has moved ahead rapidly in the last few decades, and sooner or later the manners and appurtenances of the machine civilization will penetrate every corner of the earth. It seems hard that an enlightened monarch should lose his throne simply for trying to hurry the process along.

But it is right there that we can read a bit of a lesson into Amanullah's downfall.

Reforms or changes of any kind, great or small, have to start at the bottom to be very effective. People can't be pushed out of old ways and into new ones by a few zealous leaders on top. A community or a nation will always stick to its old ways until the desire for a change has permeated all ranks.

It follows, accordingly, that any reform of any consequence in the social cultural or economic system is bound to come very slowly. It can't be engineered from the top. It can't come overnight. Years of discussion, argument and thought are required.

Take, for instance, the matter of world peace. Having passed the Kellogg treaty, we are apt to think we have done a good deal; and when government officials take occasion to announce that war with such and such a nation is "unthinkable" we shall be further encouraged. But we've only scratched the surface.

War is an institution—one of the oldest in existence. It can't be put out of existence by a few treaties or by well-intentioned speeches. When war is finally abolished it will be because the great mass of the people are determined in their hearts that it shall be abolished. We can never be led quickly into an era of eternal peace.

That's the way it is with every reform. They have to well up from underneath to be effective. If you doubt it, ask Amanullah.

HOW BRITAIN FIGHTS ACCIDENTS.

When the British undertake to deal with a puzzling situation by law, they can be expected to be very thorough about it.

The British parliament is now considering a bill designed to reduce traffic accidents. It goes much farther than any law the United States has yet considered.

To begin with, it would license all drivers, make revocation of a license mandatory on conviction of careless driving and compel every autoist to carry liability insurance. It would install mechanical governors on all autos to keep them from exceeding the speed limit. It would borrow from the rules of navigation a provision requiring any driver, when he sees any danger of a collision, to stop his car at once.

These are drastic measures. The British don't do things by halves.

as a political unit June 7, 1819, one year after Illinois was admitted to the union. Mt. Vernon was established as the county seat June 9, 1819.

The town which was the important settlement in the county at that time was incorporated as a city in 1872 and James M. Pace, father of Judge William T. Pace, of this city, was elected the first Mayor of the new city.

"Mt. Vernon has played an important part politically in state and nation, having furnished congressmen, state officers and two lieutenant governors, and now for the first time in its history, furnishing in Louis L. Emmerson, a governor of the state. Many circuit and appellate judges, and one Supreme court justice, Albert Watson, by appointment of Gov. E. F. Dunne, have added luster to the reputation of Mt. Vernon.

"Zadok Casey, elected lieutenant governor, served from 1830 to 1832, when he resigned to accept a seat in Congress.

"Stinson H. Anderson chosen at the fall election preceding, served a four year term as lieutenant governor 1832-42. Both were democrats.

"Mt. Vernon has long been prominent as a seat of justice. In 1849, Mt. Vernon was made the seat of justice of the first supreme court district and a large two story brick building was erected for use of the court.

"Owing to consolidation of the three supreme court districts, the first session of the Supreme court was held a Springfield, the permanent seat, in October 1897. Mt. Vernon is still the seat of the appellate court, fourth district, and the sessions of the court are held in the old supreme court building, where one of the best law libraries of the state is located.

"Many famous men have visited Mt. Vernon, and Lincoln and Douglas in early days practiced in the Circuit court here. John A. Logan often visited Mt. Vernon. He was then a fiery democrat.

"Robert G. Ingersoll, famous agnostic, taught school in what was called the "Old Academy", in the early fifties. His father, the Rev. John Ingersoll, was a Presbyterian minister.

"The people of Mt. Vernon and Jefferson county are patriotic and the city and county have been represented in every war in which the nation has engaged beginning with the Black Hawk war, 1832, and ending with the World War. Descendants of veterans of the Revolutionary war and of the war of 1812, are numerous in the county."

"No it must contribute a full fledged governor also, and now that ambition has been realized. Louis L. Emmerson, Mt. Vernon's leading citizen, today also is the first citizen of the state.

"Governor Emmerson has been identified with Mt. Vernon for more than forty years, having come here from Albion, Ill., in 1882. From a mercantile business he entered into banking and then into politics, moving into the governor's chair after serving three terms as secretary of the state. He still is president of the Third National bank here and it might be mentioned that Mt. Vernon's fine new hotel bears his name.

"When the government took the census in 1920, Mt. Vernon was in the country town class, with a population of something over 9,000. Progress has generously manipulated its magic wand since. For one thing the city has increased its population beyond 14,000 and still is growing. A number of fine modern buildings have been built around the public square and more are in prospect. Additional industries have selected Mt. Vernon for their home.

"In fact the Mt. Vernon Chamber of Commerce has just announced the coming of one more industrial plant to add to the score already here. Full industrial operation finds 5,000 employees at work with a payroll of some $5,000,000 annually.

"Here are some other points the business men extol in the town known as the "King City of Egypt."

"Mt. Vernon has had no business failure in many years.

"Seventy-six per cent of the families in Mt. Vernon are home owners. Jefferson County, of which Mt. Vernon is the county seat, is one of four counties producing Red Clover Top Seed for the world.

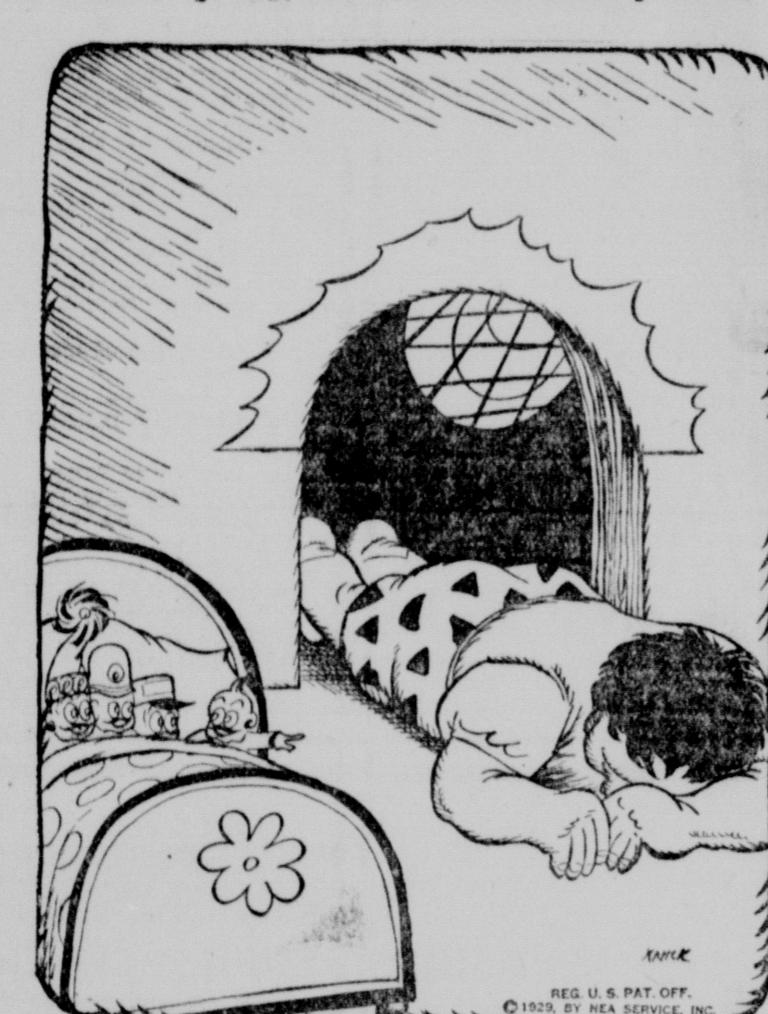

"The county has 5,000 acres in commercial orchard, 3,520 acres in peaches and 1,750 acres in apples and the poultry and dairy industries are entrenched here.

"Mt. Vernon also has one of the leading newspapers in this part of the state in the Register-News, of which Edwin Rackaway is the editor and member of the Associated Press.

"Like many other cities in the southern part of the state, Mt. Vernon history travels back over the long trail of more than a century. J. Frank Bogan, city editor of the Register-News, who knows this local history, prepared for The Associated Press the following high lights in Mt. Vernon's first one hundred and ten years:

THE TINYMITES

With Honce on His Trip Around State of Illinois

BY CHARLES HONCE

(Associated Press News Editor)
Mt. Vernon, Ill., Jan. 25—(AP)—Although Mt. Vernon already had given two lieutenant governors to Illinois, it was felt that this was not quite enough.

HOOVER WANTS TO LAND SAIL FISH IN SOUTH

And Cap'n Bill Plans to Do His Best to Help Him Do It

By NEA Service

Miami Beach, Fla.—"I'm going after sail fish like I never did before."

Cap'n Bill Hatch speaking. The saltiest skipper in Florida waters and the best authority to be found on sailfish, tarpon or any of the hard-hitting deep-sea gamesters.

Cap'n Bill is plenty proud of his newest and biggest assignment—that of taking President-elect Hoover to the haunts of the finny fighters of these semi-tropical waters. But he carries his pride easily, as he becomes a skipper who has been making big kills in the Gulf Stream for 15 years.

Wind Must Be Right

"Mr. Hoover wants a sailfish. He's never hooked one. So the first time the wind's in the northeast, I'm going to do my best to see that he gets one."

Thus Cap'n Bill starts the outline of the pre-inauguration Hoover campaign. And along the docks here, his "best" is regarded as just about the ultimate.

The Patsy, trim little cruiser built from Hatch's own design, bobbed lazily beside the fishing docks. Probably both this launch and a larger houseboat will carry Mr. Hoover on fishing trips during his stay at the state of J. C. Penney on Belle Isle.

The skipper retreated under the shade of the Patsy's after awning. "Yes, the sailfish runs best after a northeast blow," he said. "You see, they spawn in July and August, right here off Miami Beach. Then they go north in the summer and return during the winter months."

It's a great fish that the next chief executive wants to hook. A fighter whatever its size, an average "sail" will run from six to seven feet in length and around 50 to 65 pounds in weight. It has a bony beak about 18 inches long and for a dorsal fin, a huge purple sail, which itself is four to five feet in length.

"For their size, they're the gamest in any water," continued Cap'n Bill.

"A 'sail' won't give up till he's whipped to the last inch. Fast and spectacular, that's a sailfish. He'll jump as many as 15 or 20 times during a fight and clear the water at each jump."

Mr. Hoover will learn that the sailfish hits twice when he takes the bait," Cap'n Bill continued. "First he strikes the bait, to stun it. You must let out 100 feet of line, because he hasn't got the hook yet. Then he hits again, and gets the beak deep in his throat."

A Half Hour Fight

"Then comes the fight. He's off first with a run of 100 to 150 yards and his first jump, way clear of the water. He keeps running and jumping until he's all in. It'll be a half hour fight, or longer."

"You have to grab that long beak to land him. It's bony and rough and he'll still have life enough to thrash around and cut your hands if you aren't wearing gloves."

President-elect Hoover will be hunting tarpon, too, a stronger fighter than a sailfish, but not as spectacular and not as frequent a jumper. Cap'n Bill probably will take the Hoover party down along the Florida keys to seek tarpon.

In their fishing trips in January, Mr. Hoover and Cap'n Bill probably will hook barracuda, tuna, amberjack, all good for a struggle, but jack, grouper, dolphin, mackerel and their chief objective will be a sailfish, glorious fighter and spectacular beauty, fits to adorn the trophy room of a president.

LEE CENTER ITEMS

Lee Center—Lee Center Lodge No. 146 A. F. & A. M. will hold its annual supper for members and their families Jan. 30 Wednesday evening. Each member will be privileged to bring one family as his guests and will be expected to bring provisions accordingly. Supper at 6:30 p.m.

Home Invaded in Behalf of Children's Health

By J. F. ROGERS, M. D.
U. S. Bureau of Education

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. The headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

"The teaching of health ought to, and will, in some more civilized age and country, be held a necessary element in the school course of the child, just as necessary as reading, writing and arithmetic. For, after all, it is the most necessary of that work is thus a joint undertaking. It is true that many a home has been more healthful through the lessons in hygiene carried directly from school, but this is by no means the rule.

School health work needs also the understanding and cooperation of the taxpayer, for our school buildings need to be made healthful and our playgrounds ample if they are not already so. While most of the health activities center in the regular teachers and the janitor, there may be need of special workers who must be paid for.

School health work has for its object the reduction of the 50,000 deaths that occur annually among children of school age, and a diminution of the 200,000 school days lost by children on account of illness. It has in view the prevention of much sickness and premature death in later life.

But it means much more, for it endeavors to put the child in his best possible condition, so that he can profit most by his schooling and can pursue the business of life with more pleasure and profit, whether in the shop or on the farm, as plumber or stenographer, teacher or parent.

Whether we can or cannot measure results of health work by the almighty dollar, it pays, for it adds length and capacity for service to our human existence.

Insure today. Send in your name and one dollar and you will receive an Accident Insurance Policy worth $1,000 in case of death. Dixon Evening Telegraph.

ALL-AT-ONCE is Not the Safe Way to Soft-cook 1000 EGGS

Neither is Roasting huge Quantities of Coffee at a Time
the sure Way—that's
why Hills Bros
Roast a few Pounds
at a Time by a Continuous Process

Can you imagine what would happen after you had moved the kettle from the fire? Before you could take out all the eggs many would be over-cooked. Certainly it pays to soft-cook eggs a few at a time. You have control!

Hills Bros. control the flavor of their coffee because they roast a few pounds at a time by a continuous process. Every berry is roasted evenly—to that exact point where matchless uniform flavor is assured. No other coffee is roasted this way.

RAISING MONEY TO FEED BIRDS IN COMMUNITY

Izaak Walton League to Have Charge of Feeding Them

President Louis Knicl of the Dixon Chapter of the Izaak Walton League, today announced a voluntary subscription which has been received by him from Dixon sportsmen, to be used in the feeding of quail and pheasants in Lee County. It is the plan of President Knicl to cooperate with State Game Warden Henry Keister in furnishing the necessary food for the birds which are facing starvation, the feed to be distributed by the warden.

Receipt of reports that many flocks of both quail and pheasants throughout the county faced extermination by starvation caused members of the local Chapter and some not connected with the organization, to immediately start a fund which was deposited with President Knicl of the Izaak Walton League Chapter to be used in this work. Game Warden Keister yesterday launched an appeal to farmers to feed flocks of quail and volunteered to care for several flocks which have been under his supervision, provided that feed be furnished. The fund voluntarily subscribed today will be used for the purchase of wheat and corn for the flocks facing starvation.

President Knicl was appealed to last evening to consider a plan for feeding a number of pheasants which have been released in the vicinity of Dixon. These birds are facing the same condition that confronts the quail, it was reported, and the necessity of feeding the birds is essential in their preservation.

"PA" STRIBLING TO WATCH RING BOUT THIS EVENING

But He is Confident Son Will Trim Boston Sailor Man

BY EDWARD J. NEIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, Jan. 25—(AP)—A chubby little fellow with the soft drawl of the southland is peeping out from under the brim of his black derby today at thingsistic in the big town. Tonight he will sit at the ringside in Madison Square Garden and turn his entire attention on Jack Sharkey's efforts to bruise K. O. Christner—and vice versa.

The little fellow with the slow smile is "Pa" Stribling, who raised his boy to be a fighter of such proportions that little Willie is now one of the leading heavyweights, one of the principals in the "Battle of the Palms." Tex Rickard planned for Miami Beach on the night of Feb. 27.

"Pa" came all the way north from the Florida resort to scout Sharkey, if the fates are smiling on the late promoter's plans, and Christner, if necessary.

But with the preliminary scouting over and nothing left to do but wait for the fistie pineapples to explode tonight "Pa" has time to dwell on the prospects of a record gate at Miami Beach and the enthusiasm for fights in general and Young Stribling in particular.

South Finding Itself
"The South," he said, "is just finding itself athletically. We had the greatest football team in the country last fall in Georgia Tech. Bobby Jones and Watts Gunn have thrilled the section with their golf and Ty Cobb made baseball fans of thousands. Now Young Stribling has come along to take his place as the foremost southern representative in the boxing world."

"The Sharkey-Stribling match will be one of the biggest sport events in the history of the section and the boy must uphold the prestige of his predecessors."

"You know, Southerners are more sentimental than Northerners or Westerners and we consider that this fight is something of a memorial to Tex Rickard. Tex was the man who gave the boy his chance and favored him to win the heavyweight championship. The South won't forget that."

"Pa" Stribling feels that Sharkey should beat Christner tonight and of course believes that the Boston sailor man is nothing but a "set-up" for his son. Sharkey, he says, is easy to hit; is no stronger and no better boxer than Young Stribling.

"Sharkey," he adds, "has a habit, too, of turning to referees and complaining when the going gets rough. Well, the boy is pretty smart in taking advantage of things like that. We just hope he does that once. He'll be a gone Sharkey."

SWISS RIDING BICYCLES
BERNE, Switzerland—(AP)—Bicycle dealers are working for a "bicycle in every household," as the use of the two wheel vehicle has grown from one for every 12 persons in 1918 to one for every five today. The 15 Swiss bicycle manufacturers have an output of 125,000 yearly, while thousands of others are imported, chiefly from Germany, France and Great Britain. American makes are little used because of high prices.

HERE'S YOUR ORDERS, WILLIE

The patriotic mission to polish off Jack Sharkey for the honor of the dear old south has been put up squarely to Willie Stribling by his fellow statesmen of the south.

Having produced the world's champion golfer, the national champion football team, the world's champion broad jumper and baseball's greatest player, dear old Georgia can be proud justly and can be pardoned for aspiring to produce the next heavyweight fighting champion.

It is apparent that they are taking the Stribling boy very seriously around his home section and he has been told just what his duty is in the following paragraph from an Atlanta paper:

YES, IT WOULD BE WONDERFUL

"So Stribling's acid test will be against Sharkey. Martin Burke seems to think that Strib will beat Sharkey easily, but that will have to be proven in the ring. At present the whole south is aroused with the conviction that this section is to furnish for the first time a heavyweight champion of the world. What a wonderful thing that would be! Stribling shoulders a big responsibility. He will carry the hopes of the southland. He must not fail his people now."

TALKING FOR NOTHING

The directors at Madison Square Garden found occasion several times to complain to Tex Rickard about his extravagance in paying his performers. They were bankers who figured entirely on percentages and when Rickard wouldn't operate on their scale they went so far as to put men as his assistants who would talk down the demands of the athletes.

One of the assistants installed was Col. Hammond, and Al Schacht tells a story of his caution in holding down the prices.

Hammond sent for Al and asked him if he and Nick Altrock could put on an act during the intermission of a big hockey game. Al said he could and Hammond wanted to know what the act would consist of. Al had to think fast. He said he would "swim the channel" on the ice back and forth along the entire distance of the rink, that they would stage a burlesque hockey game and that he would take plenty of falls with Nick doing the straight.

When he was asked how much they wanted, Al told him they would work one evening for $350.

WHAT? 350 DOLLARS? Hammond roared. "How much do you fellows make a day in baseball?"

WOULD DRAW THEIR PAY

Al told him it made no difference how much they were paid in baseball and that they were with the Washington club primarily as coaches with the clown stuff thrown in. He said he knew that they could draw 350 customers to the Garden and that they would pay for themselves and the colonel would be spared a bill for entertainment.

Hammond said he never heard of such a demand and he wouldn't pay it. "Not more than $250 at the most and that on a contract," he said.

They argued for about two hours and Al finally got what he asked for.

"I could have done business with Rickard on the phone and saved all that wind," Schacht said. "Rickard knew when you weren't asking for too much, and if you did ask too much you wouldn't get it. He knew his dollars, that fellow."

Many Changed Teams to be Seen in Junior League's Race

BY ORLO L. ROBERTSON
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Chicago, Jan. 25—(AP)—With re-vamped uniforms, more or less uncertain outfields and likely looking new comers among battery men, the American League this year assumes the aspect of a one-ring circus with the New York Yankees the ringmaster.

Her Legs Win

Caryl Lincoln.....legs win her her Wampas honors.

By NEA Service.

Hollywood Cal—Caryl Lincoln's shapely legs won her the honor of being chosen one of the 13 Wampas Baby Stars of 1929.

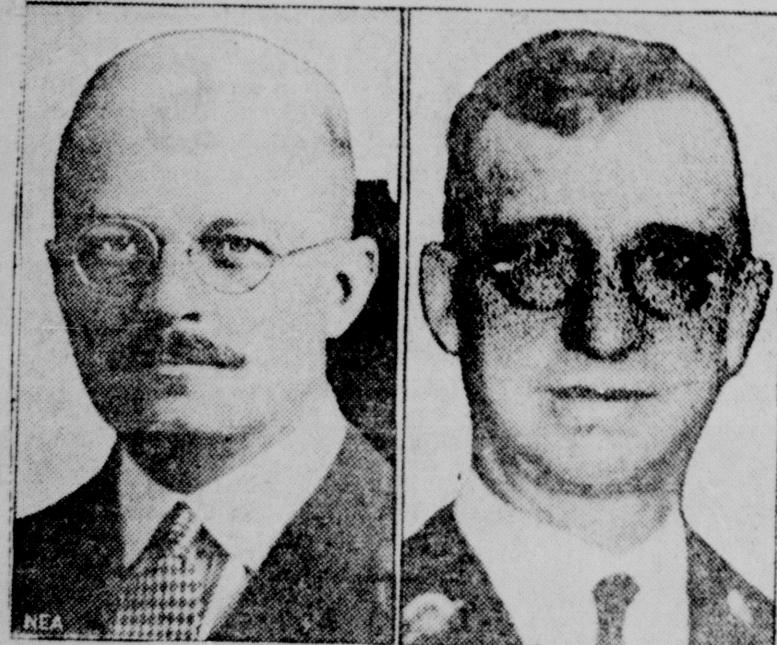

For months before Caryl's face never was photographed, she doubled for many prominent stars in closeups. Then a Fox director decided her face also had possibilities. And now she's a full-fledged actress.

Stewart Pauses to Pose While Fighting John D.

This rare posed photo of Col. Robert D. Stewart in a smiling mood shows him in New York when he arrived from Chicago to press his fight for re-election as director and chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana over the opposition of the Rockefeller interests, represented both by John D. junior and senior.

Financier and Officer He Killed

Crazed by a nervous malady which followed shell-shock received in the World War, W. Griffin Gribbel, left, prominent Philadelphia financier and clubman, shot and killed Police Inspector John W. Blackburn, right, who had responded to a call for help from the Gribbel home. Gribbel had barricaded himself in a room in his mansion and fired shots through the walls and windows alternately with a heavy service automatic and a rifle. He greeted the appearance of Inspector Blackburn with a new fusilade of death-dealing bullets.

SECOND, THIRD FLOORS OF WHITE HOUSE SECLUDED

Telegraph Writer Has a Peek Into Private
Quarters There

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of three stories by Allene Summer, NEA Service writer, on the problems that Mrs. Herbert Hoover will face when she becomes the new mistress of the White House on March 4.

BY ALLENE SUMMER
NEA Service Writer

Washington—Perhaps it is not generally known that almost any visitor to Washington can enter the White House without much to do; perhaps a card from a congressman, sometimes not even that if appearances are fairly good and the story sounds plausible.

And what is the interior of the White House like—this big mansion of which Mrs. Herbert Hoover will become mistress on March 4?

A visitor is ushered into the first floor reception hall, to the left of which is the famous East Room with its glittering chandeliers, gold piano, velvet curtains and gold chairs. This room is known as "The Nation's Parlor."

Most anyone can see the Red Room, the Blue Room, the Green Room (though none of them are really those colors any more) and can stray into the big state dining room and see the silver water tankard and the massive walnut furniture.

Upstairs Is Private

The visitor comes out into the hall again and peers up the magnificent staircase. It is at the head of this stairway that the president appears at diplomatic receptions and stands there while the band plays "Hail to the Chief." But a visitor will never find out what's upstairs unless he gets to be president or on very clumsy terms with one, for while the first floor may belong to the public, the second and third floors are decidedly private.

Even official people do not necessarily "go upstairs" very often, which is why even Mrs. Herbert Hoover, a member of official Washington for years, may have some curiosity about this house which is entirely in white, and most of them used for juvenile White House guests. Each bedroom has its own bath. Seven new ones were installed during the 1927 White House renovation.

That's the home that Mrs. Hoover will take over on March 4.

Warnings in Use of Liver: Copper is Needed

(This series of articles is prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial Institute, which is organized to perpetuate the life work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Institute are at 1331 G Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.)

A great medical discovery always runs the risk of being misused and exploited at the expense of the public. Such is the case today with the liver and liver-extract treatment for pernicious anemia. This wonderful discovery has led to the excessive and unwarranted use of liver by large groups of people and to the well known slogan, "Eat liver for blood building." What are the scientific facts with regard to the dietary and needs an extra supply of blood building foods to make good the deficiency of copper. This usually means foods should be limited to those suffering from pernicious anemia, and constituent of hemoglobin he is most rarely used in other cases; they likely to lack.

Foods rich in iron, such as the green vegetables, dried fruits, whole grains and nut meats, may also contain other factors that are valuable in blood building and that we are only beginning to appreciate. The discovery made at the University of Wisconsin and announced last April that minute traces of copper were essential for the utilization of iron leads us to inquire whether or not some of the foods that we have called the best blood builders contain traces of copper. An analysis of some of our common greens such as spinach, lettuce and chard shows they contain copper in small amounts. That they may also contain other valuable minerals that we have hitherto considered insignificant is evidenced by the fact that a water extract of spinach proves to be an excellent hemoglobin builder. It suggests to the housewife that she not only serve greens frequently but also make use of the water in which they are cooked.

Whatever foods may be advocated for blood building, be it liver, spinach or egg yolk, let us not lose sight of the fact that a well balanced diet containing an abundance of fruits
